Dear Educator,

You and your students have the unique opportunity to preview, for FREE, Warriors #1: Into the Wild, the first book in bestselling author Erin Hunter’s action-adventure series Warriors, which has become a perennial favorite of pre-teen boys and girls. Into the Wild chronicles the adventures of a group of wild cats as seen through the eyes of a domestic cat, Rusty, who ventures into the forest to join them.

You can receive 20 FREE copies of Warriors #1: Into the Wild by returning the enclosed reply card or ordering online at ymiclassroom.com/warriors. Supplies are limited, so please place your order today. The offer expires September 24, 2015.

Filled with action and adventure, Warriors #1: Into the Wild is sure to engage even the most reluctant readers in grades 3–5 with its courageous feline characters and suspenseful cliff-hangers. The activities in this teaching kit, developed by the award-winning curriculum specialists at Young Minds Inspired (YMI), align with Common Core State Standards in English Language Arts and are being provided to help you make Warriors part of your classroom plans. Both students who have read the book and those just being introduced to it will engage in these activities as they follow the Warriors’ cats on their many adventures while learning important lessons about teamwork, courage, diversity, and leadership.

We hope that you will share this FREE offer from HarperCollins with other teachers in your school. Although the materials are protected by copyright, you may make as many copies as needed for educational purposes.

Please return the enclosed reply card or go online to ymiclassroom.com/warriors to order your FREE set of books (while supplies last). The offer expires on September 24, 2015. You can also use the reply card or comment online at ymiclassroom.com/feedback-warriors to provide feedback. We look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Dr. Dominic Kinsley

ABOUT THE SERIES

Warriors is the latest animal adventure series by Erin Hunter, author of the bestselling Survivors and Seekers series. In this first book, Into the Wild, we meet Rusty, a house cat who leaves his human owners and the comfort of his home to venture out into the wild and join a group of cats called ThunderClan. Rusty faces many challenges in the wild since he was raised as a “kittypet” but, renamed as the apprentice Firepaw, he proves himself through bravery and kindness and earns the warrior name of Fireheart. As a member of ThunderClan, he continues to face challenges in the other books in the series — Book Two: Fire and Ice, Book Three: Forest of Secrets, Book Four: Rising Storm, and Book Five: A Dangerous Path. In Book Six: The Darkest Hour, Fireheart has risen to become leader of ThunderClan. Students will enjoy experiencing the world through the cats’ eyes while also considering the broad themes of the stories — what it means to be a part of a community and the importance of perseverance when facing adversity.

TARGET AUDIENCE

This program is designed for students in grades 3–5 as a supplement to the language arts curriculum.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

- To engage young students in reading adventures that foster an appreciation for the elements of fiction
- To entertain while encouraging students to think critically about issues of respect, rules, and identity

COMMON CORE STATE STANDARDS

The activities in this program align with Common Core State Standards in English Language Arts as listed for each activity. Visit ymiclassroom.com/warriors for further details.

HOW TO USE THIS PROGRAM

Review the activities in conjunction with this teacher’s guide and order your set of FREE books by September 24, 2015. Act now; supplies are limited. To set the stage, have students visit the Warriors’ website and read the History of the Clans at warriorcats.com/meet-the-warriors/clan-history, or read it together in class as an introduction to the unit. You can photocopy and distribute the two activity sheets as an introduction to the book or use them once your free books arrive. Be sure to distribute copies of the third sheet to students so they can take it home to plan further Warriors reading adventures.

ACTIVITY 1   RISK AND RESPECT

Part 1 (RL3.3, 4.3, 5.3). Briefly explain to students the story of Rusty, the main character in Into the Wild. Rusty was a house cat who ventured into the forest and, against all odds, became a hero. Point out the examples of Rusty’s bravery from the activity sheet and ask students to imagine themselves in similar situations. Would they do the same thing? Why or why not? After students complete this part of the activity, have them share their thoughts in a class discussion.

Part 2 (W3.3, 4.3, 5.3). Rusty had to earn the respect of the cats in ThunderClan, because he was what they called a kittypet. Students can consider how a character they create might earn respect by outlining their own story that involves another warrior cat whom Rusty meets. Students can use the outline on the activity sheet to help them generate their own story, starting with a cat character of their choosing, adding a challenge to be overcome, and writing some sample dialogue. Guide students through the prompts on the sheet. When they have finished, students can write their story on a separate sheet of paper or use the building blocks as a starting point for a writing workshop.

ACTIVITY 2   WHAT’S IN A NAME? (L3.5, 4.5, 5.5).

Ask students to think about their own names. Do they know why they were given that name? Does it have a special meaning? Have several volunteers share. Explain to students that each of the warrior cats’ names has a specific meaning. Direct students’ attention to the character names on the activity sheet as well as the explanation of the naming conventions and write why they think that cat was given that name.

Then have students use the warrior naming rules along with positive characteristics of a friend or family member to give that person a warrior cat name. What name would they have if they also had a warrior cat name? Students can also use names that rely on figurative meanings. For example, if the person is smart and knowledgeable, “owl” could be part of his or her name. Other examples include a person who is a fast runner (“cheetah”), always busy doing something (“bee” or “beaver”), good at singing (“canary”), or has good handwriting (“scribe”). Encourage students to be creative in their naming choices.
ACTIVITY 1  RISK AND RESPECT

In Warriors #1: Into the Wild, Rusty the house cat follows his heart and does what he thinks is right even though it is risky and breaks a ThunderClan rule — he shows mercy to an injured enemy. For his bravery, he earns the respect of the Clan, eventually earning the warrior name of Fireheart when he again takes a risk, reveals a traitor in the Clan, and saves a stolen group of kittens.

PART 1 Can you think of a situation in your life when you did something that seemed a bit scary but also seemed like the right thing to do? Describe it here, and write how you felt about the outcome.

PART 2 Rusty’s adventure in Into the Wild is exciting because of what happens when he meets the cats in ThunderClan. Now it’s your turn to create a new adventure for Rusty and the Clan. Start by imagining a new character that Rusty meets. Next, imagine what happens when Rusty and your new character work together. Use the outline below to help you, and the other side of the paper if you need more room. Then write your own story of a brave cat!

1. Your new character
   • Name of character: _________________________________________________________________
   • Description: _____________________________________________________________________
   • Characteristics (personality, past experiences, etc.): ________________________________

2. Plot: List the sequence of events in your story.
   • How does the story start? ____________________________________________________________
   • What happens next that creates a challenge? ____________________________________________
   • How does your character react? What does he or she do? ________________________________

3. Dialogue: Write a few lines of conversation (dialogue) between Rusty and your character to show their personalities.
   • “_____________________________________________________________________________,” Rusty said.
   • ________________________ answered, “______________________________
   • ________________________________________________________________________________

4. Climax: This is the big action that happens in your story as a result of the plot.
   • What happens in the climax? __________________________________________________________
   • How do things get resolved? ________________________________________________________

Notice how the cats’ names have two parts? The first part describes something about what the cat looks like. For example, the “Fire” part of Firepaw’s warrior name refers to his fiery color. The meaning of the second part of a warrior’s name is as individual as each cat. It can describe a physical feature, the cat’s role within the Clan, an experience that defines that cat, etc.

Can you think of why these cats were given their warrior names based on the pictures or what you learned in the book? Write your ideas below.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Meaning of name</th>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Fireheart</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tigerclaw</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Graystripe</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bluestar</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Now imagine giving warrior names to people you know that express their own individuality. On the lines below, write the name of a friend or family member. Next, for the first part of their warrior name, think of a word that describes that person’s appearance, perhaps “red” for someone with red hair or “tall” for a six-footer. For the second part of their name, choose a word that describes what makes that person special: Is he a loyal friend? (Use “friend.”) Is she smart (“brainy”), a good singer (“music”), funny (“smile”)? These are just ideas; use your imagination! Whatever it is, choose something positive about the person’s appearance and character for their warrior name. Then think of what your name could be!
