

A Major Production

Once eggs are laid and transported to the gathering room, they are ready for their close-ups—processing close-ups, that is. Every stage of processing is carefully controlled to make sure the eggs you buy are fresh and of the highest quality.

Visit incredibleegg.org/good-egg-project/farm-to-table/the-production-process-from-hen-to-home and aeb.org/farmers-and-marketers/ftip to learn about the stages. Then name each stage and briefly describe what happens.
