

WHAT A WORLD!

Who Am I?

Solve these riddles to learn more about endangered animals.

Word Bank

honeybee blue whale monarch butterfly black rhino

Animal 1 Clues

- I am color blind and can only see in shades of gray.
- I am the biggest animal that has ever existed!
- I sing and am the loudest animal on Earth!
- One reason I am endangered is because I get entangled in fishing nets.

I am a _____.

Animal 2 Clues

- I only live for 2 to 6 weeks.
- I use my tongue to slurp up my food. But, I taste things through the hairs on my legs and feet.
- I make an incredible journey from Canada, through the U.S., and on to Mexico every year.
- I am endangered because habitat loss means there are fewer meadows. People are clearing meadows to build homes and buildings.

I am a _____.

Animal 3 Clues

- I do a waggle dance to let my friends know where to find the best food.
- I can flap my wings more than 200 times per second.
- I have 5 eyes and 6 legs.
- One reason I am endangered is because habitat loss means there are fewer flowers. And that means less food for me.

I am a _____.

Animal 4 Clues

- A group of me and my friends is called a crash.
- I can live up to 50 years in the wild.
- I am an herbivore — I only eat plants!
- I am endangered because of climate change. There is less rain and food in my habitat. Also, some people hunt me for my horn.

I am a _____.

Animal Saver Vocabulary

Endangered: when an animal or plant species is in danger of becoming extinct

Extinct: when an animal or plant species no longer exists

Hello fellow animal savers! I'm Jane Garcia. The more you know about the amazing animals in our world, the more you see how we are all connected!

