

A RAINBOW OF FOOD!

You know your colors. You know fruits and vegetables are good for you. Now put the two together and test your knowledge about colorful fruits and vegetables with these word games. Play with your family and friends.

Part 1

List each person's name in the first column. Then, one at a time, each person will think of and write the name of a fruit or vegetable in the space where the row for their name and the column for the color meet. The rest of the players ask questions to figure out the fruit or vegetable the player wrote on the chart. The person who figures it out goes next.

Name	Fruit and Vegetables by the Color
	Red	Orange	Yellow	Green	Blue	Purple

Part 2

Food clues! Work together to figure out the fruits and vegetables described below.

1. Although many people think it's a vegetable, this is actually the most popular fruit in the world. _____
2. This was the first vegetable grown in space. _____
3. This root vegetable loved by rabbits comes in a rainbow of colors: orange, white, purple, and yellow. _____
4. This green leafy salad vegetable is part of the sunflower family. _____

Part 3

Animal clues! Do you know that some animals only eat plants, vegetables, and fruit? These animals are called herbivores. Unscramble the words below to discover some endangered, threatened, or vulnerable animals that are herbivores.

1. DNAAP _____
2. RBCAIUO _____
3. CLKBA CRSHNEORIO _____
4. LEGDNO-DNOCEWR YNFLIG XFO _____ - _____

Families:

Check out Jane on Apple TV+ to follow the adventures of 9-year-old animal activist-in-training Jane Garcia, her best friend David, and her chimpanzee named Greybeard.* Together they try to help endangered animals around the world, like Jane's hero Dr. Jane Goodall. Visit ymiclassroom.com/jane for activities, a family letter, and a free excerpt from Jane's Endangered Animal Guide, a book that explores Jane's adventures, animal facts, and things kids can do to make a difference.

* A subscription is required to view Apple TV+ content.

