

STUART GIBBS

MISSION: Write

Stuart Gibbs wants to share tips about writing with your students!

Best-selling author Stuart Gibbs, beloved by middle-grade readers for his humorous and suspenseful stories, is on a new mission to inspire young people to see themselves as writers.

Stuart Gibbs Mission: Write is a free creative-writing video series for grades 4-7, developed with the help of educators, that provides real-world tips from Stuart Gibbs to help activate your students' imaginations, build their excitement for the writing process, and guide them in becoming stronger writers.

What will my students learn?

Students will learn writing tips and techniques with this five-part series, including:

- Anatomy of a Scene: How to construct a scene
- Building Characters: How to create dynamic characters
- Revisions: How to make revisions and why they're important
- Telling a Story: How to plan and structure a story
- Writerly Advice: Tips from a pro

What's included?

- Check out the introductory video with author Stuart Gibbs to learn about the program.
- Each unit kicks off with a fun, instructional video that features Stuart Gibbs as he introduces the topic, takes students to interesting locations, and explains his tips and techniques for writing.
- For each video there is an accompanying, ready-to-use lesson plan and student activity to help you bring the topic to life in your classroom, and encourage your students to begin their own writing process.

How can I incorporate Mission: Write into my class plans?

This creative writing series is flexible!

- Choose a video and accompanying lesson to teach an individual story element, or use select videos to support your class plans.
- Build the content of the five-part series into a whole unit of study.

Where can I find it?

Your mission is simple: visit www.stuartgibbsmissionwrite.com to access the free materials! We hope you and your students accept this exciting mission!
